Part IV — Recipients and processors

I understand Acme may share my personal data with: (i) cloud hosting providers (Amazon Web Services India); (ii) payment processors (Razorpay Software Pvt. Ltd.); (iii) KYC verification partners; (iv) email and SMS delivery services; and (v) professional advisers bound by confidentiality. A current list is published at https://www.acmedigital.in/subprocessors. Acme remains accountable as Data Fiduciary.

Part V — Retention and erasure

Personal data will be retained only for the period necessary to fulfil each consented purpose, as set out in Acme's Data Retention Policy (typically: account data for relationship duration plus three years; marketing preferences until withdrawal plus three years for proof of consent). Thereafter data is securely erased or irreversibly anonymised unless law requires longer retention.

Part VI — Rights of the Data Principal

1. Right of access (Section 11): I may request a summary of my personal data being processed and the identities of fiduciaries and processors with whom it has been shared.

2. Right of correction and erasure (Section 12): I may request correction of inaccurate data or erasure when retention is no longer necessary.

3. Right of grievance redressal (Section 13): I may contact the Grievance Officer below before approaching the Data Protection Board of India.

4. Right of nomination (Section 14): I may nominate another individual to exercise my rights in the event of my death or incapacity.

Grievance Officer: Priya Sharma · grievance@acmedigital.in · +91 22 4890 2100 · Response within timelines prescribed under the DPDP Rules, 2025.

Part VII — Withdrawal of consent

I may withdraw any optional consent at any time by: (a) toggling preferences in my Acme account settings; (b) emailing privacy@acmedigital.in; or (c) submitting the Consent Withdrawal Request form at https://www.acmedigital.in/privacy/withdraw. Withdrawal is as easy as giving consent. Withdrawal does not affect lawfulness of processing before withdrawal or processing under another lawful basis.

Part VIII — Declaration

I confirm that: (i) I am at least 18 years of age, or I am the parent/legal guardian providing verifiable consent on behalf of a child; (ii) the information I have provided is accurate; (iii) I have read and understood this form and the Privacy Policy; and (iv) I freely give the consents I have ticked above.
